How to choose a perfect birthday gift? We usually spend hours trying to come up with an idea. What does the person want? What do they like or need? However, there's another way to pick the best gift. When we give a gift to a person to show our love, we are actually speaking to them. In this case, ask yourself first, "What do I want to say to this person?" For example, you buy a set of chef's knives for your father to tell him he is the best cook. To let your aunt know she has a beautiful garden, you get her some colorful plants. It can be something funny, too. If you want to ask your little brother to cover his mouth when he coughs, get him some masks!

Next time you have trouble finding a gift for your friend, try this out! It not only gives you ideas but also saves you time. Who knows? You might find something special just for them.
