五、閱讀測驗 (每題 2 分，共 22%)

A.

Parents care about their children a lot. They do a lot for them. Do the kids know their parents' hard work?

Now, I'd like to tell you about the movie, The Pursuit of Happyness. In the beginning, Chris Gardner buys a machine, a bone-density scanner, with his entire life savings. He doesn't sell it well, so he runs out of money. He loses his apartment, and his wife leaves him. He becomes a single father with a young boy, Christopher. They have no place to live. They can only live on the street, in the bathroom of a train station or a shelter. Life is very difficult for them, but Christopher still believes in his dad. He keeps saying, "You are a good papa." and "I trust you." to Gardner.

Because of the kid's encouragement, Gardner works hard during his intership as a stockbroker. Finally, he wins the job and becomes rich. Like most parents, Gardner never gives up because of his son's trust and love.

Do you ever think about your parents' working situation? If not, you should. Do something for your parents and show them your thanks.

☐ pursuit 追求 / bone-density scanner 骨質密度檢測儀 / entire life savings 一生積蓄 / shelter 避難所 / intership 實習生 / stockbroker 股票經紀人 / situation 情況

- () 33. What does the writer think of the movie?
 (A) Gardner is the same as other parents. They work hard for their kids.
 (B) Gardner's wife chose the right way.
 (C) Christopher should be with his mom.
 (D) Gardner was a bad salesman because he couldn't sell the machine.

B.

Last year, a baby black bear got lost in the waterfall. He walked alone and went to the people near the waterfall because he smelled something good. The baby bear was looking for food with his mom. However, when the mom black bear saw a lot of people, she ran away. She was too afraid to take her baby bear home. She wanted to wait until nobody showed up. However, people got together to see the lost cute baby black bear, so the mom black bear just gave up saving her baby. People sent the baby bear to the shelter.

Professor Huang studies the black bear for a long time. Her team started to raise this six-month baby bear in a wild forest way. They didn't feed by themselves or keep it as a pet. Instead, they put the food up in the trees. They baby bear had to climb up the trees and find the food by himself. The professor trained the baby bear to live in the forest. After nine months, they let the baby bear go home. They put the camera to see if the bear was safe in the mountains. Professor Huang wants to tell people in Taiwan: If you see a black bear next time, you don't need to stop breathing, just talk to them with a soft voice, be gentle, and walk away slowly. Let the black bear know you are friendly.

C.

Do you enjoy watching movies or watching ball games with your friends? Do you often go on a trip abroad? You might take these things for granted, but in Saudi Arabia, women couldn't do all these things—not until lately.

Usually when we think of women from Saudi Arabia, a group of women with cloth around their heads may come to our mind, for they need to cover their faces. Also, in Saudi Arabia, people think women shouldn't go to public places. They couldn't drive. They couldn't go to a movie theater or a soccer game, either. If they wanted to go on a trip abroad, they needed their men to apply for passports for them and be always with them on their trip.

These changed when King Abdullah of Saudi Arabia gave women the rights to vote and to be elected in 2015. After the king passed away, the prince Mohammad bin Salman carried on the king's reforms to make Saudi Arabia a modern country. Improving women's rights is one of them. In December 2017, he re-opened the movie theaters in Saudi Arabia and gave women the right to watch movies in theaters. On January 12th 2018, a photo of Arab women cheering in a soccer game caught the world's eye. They can go watch soccer games from that day on. Also, in February 2018, the prince gave women the right to start their own business, and then in June 2018, he gave women the right to drive. From 2019, women in Saudi Arabia finally have the right to apply for passports, and they can go on a trip abroad on their own.

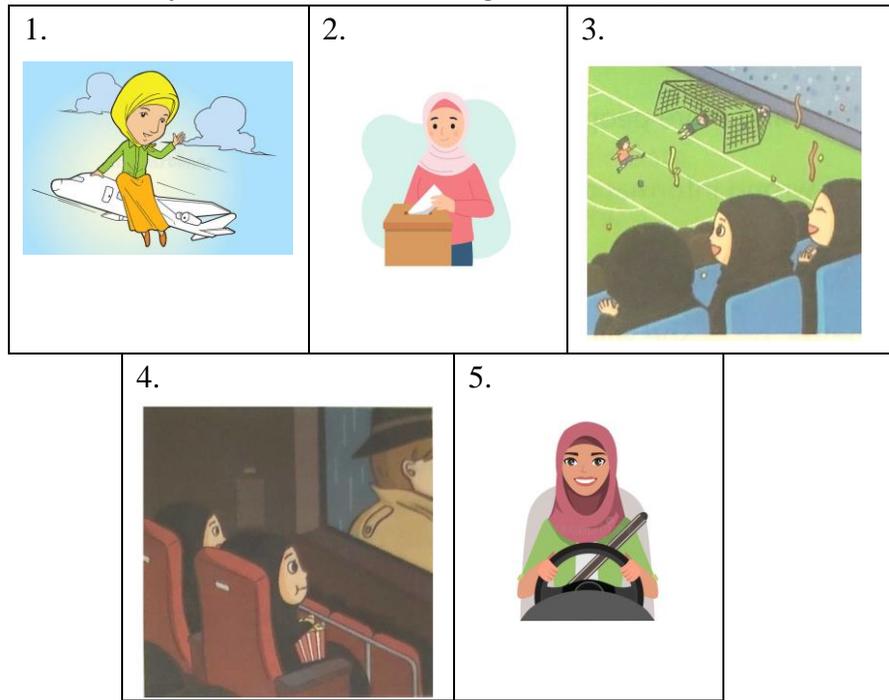

Women in Saudi Arabia still can't do a few things, but with these reforms, they can slowly take their rights back.

abroad 國外 / take...for granted 將...視為理所當然 /

until 直到 / public 公共的 / apply for passports 申請護照 / vote 投票 / be elected 被選為 / carry on 延續 / reform
