素養題

What is a sharing economy? Let's imagine a scooter on the side of the road. You need some way to get to the movie theater, or you will be late. You see that scooter. Without a second thought, you jump on that scooter, and ride it to the movie theater. When you get there, you pay a little for the ride and just park it on the side of the road.

What happens to the scooter? Well, when someone else needs to use the scooter, they can also ride that scooter, just like you. The scooter owner makes money by allowing other people to use the scooter. This is the idea of a sharing economy. People share one thing with one another, and someone else makes money from it.

A sharing economy creates a new kind of business. People are trying to make money from sharing scooters or houses with others. However, it is not problem-free. For example, some riders may break the scooter, and the owner has to pay much. What do you think? Would you like to share something with others?

素養題

The statue of The Little Mermaid is one of the most famous tourist attractions in Copenhagen. Every day, people from all over the world come to see this beautiful statue and learn about its story.

The statue is about a famous mermaid story. A mermaid fell in love with a human. Every morning and evening, the mermaid swam to the surface from the bottom of the sea. She sat on her rock in the water and waited to see the man. The mermaid gave up everything to live with the man. Although she didn't make it in the end, everyone remembered the sad but amazing story.

It's a popular story and became the material for many shows and books. Carl Jacobsen decided to build the statue after he watched a beautiful woman acting out the little mermaid in a show. He paid to have Edvard Eriksen create the statue in 1913. The statue, with its story, still draws visitors to Copenhagen now. If you go to Copenhagen, don't forget to pay a visit to this statue.
